Stay here and be steeped in the casual, comfortable Latin Quarter. Within minutes you can reach the Place Monge with its market or Rue Mouffetard's non-stop shops and eating choices that include both restaurants and specialty food stores. A comfortable stroll brings you to the charming Place de la Contrescarpe, surrounded by cafés. This was Hemingway's neighborhood when he first came to Paris.

Walk to the Pantheon, Jardin du Luxembourg or Jardin des Plantes, or catch the No. 7 Metro line and ride directly to the Louvre and other Right Bank sights.
